The Finish Line is in Sight!

While global equity markets, and by extension the fund, had a strong December and Q4, for the year the fund's return was relatively flat. During Q1 we saw a deep low in March due to markets reaction to the current pandemic. Although the USD side (about 60% of portfolio) recovered and hit record highs, local and regional shares continued to dampen returns. Many of our local equity positions such as Goddard Enterprises (-34%), ICBL which was subject to an attempted takeover bid (-45%) and First Caribbean (-24%) saw negative returns.

According to Morgan Stanley (MS), the US economy is expected to grow by 7.6% in 2021 and 2.9% in 2022.. MS also expect the Chinese economy to grow by 9.0% in 2021 and 5.4% in 2022. Regarding emerging markets, MS fore-casts GDP growth in 2021 and 2022 of 7.4% and 4.7%, respectively.

The key challenge for the US over the next few months is to continue to drive down new COVID-19 cases and continue to accelerate the rate of vaccinations. Based on current trends, it is reasonable to expect the US to achieve herd immunity by Q3 2021.

US equity markets have already factored in most of the expected economic recovery discussed above. It is for this reason that we expect the Fund to generate single digit returns in 2021 barring any negative returns on the local side.

2021 is expected to be a year of recovery with growing economies, reduced unemployment, and an increasing sense of normality. That said, we feel much of this positive news is already factored into equity prices, but for long-term investors, the equity markets remain the best alternative.
